Every book I read takes me into a new world: there are a million stories ahead of me. – Alina Raikin

The Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art invites submissions for the 10th annual NewArt Northwest Kids exhibition.

Teachers of public, private, and home school students in grades K–12 may submit work for consideration in this show of student art.

About the exhibition

This year's theme, "The Language of Art," explores how visual images and the written word intersect to create meaning. The art created could include graffiti, calligraphy, comics, story illustration, poetry, or text. Media may be in many forms including painting, photographs, prints, digital art, illustration, collage, and creative writing may also be added. Students are required to answer the questions posed in the entry form to provide context about their work. Please note that 3D work cannot be considered at this time. The theme can be connected to Common Core subject areas of history, social studies, science, and language arts. See <http://jsma.uoregon.edu/> for more activity ideas responding to the theme.

The exhibition will be on view February 22–May 28, 2017. Student artists will be honored at an exhibition reception on Saturday, April 15, 11 a.m.–12 p.m.
